

A Training for Trainers in School Conflict Management

Training Objectives:

- * Participants will learn assertive and supportive skills and strategies to gain cooperation and reduce stressful power struggles
- * Participants will learn how to transform classrooms and school sites into cooperative places
- * Participants will become familiar with models and materials to use at their school site

Methodology:

The training content is based on a carefully researched theory base, years of practice with ongoing implementation refinements of both skills and strategies, and case studies of best practices.

Presentation will include stories, demonstrations, mini-lectures, discussion, and non-threatening small group practice.

Instructors: Ron & Roxanne Claassen, authors of Discipline That Restores, Strategies to Create Respect, Cooperation, & Responsibility in the Classroom (2008).*

Ron is Director at the Center for Peacemaking & Conflict Studies at Fresno Pacific University and Roxanne is an eighth grade teacher at Raisin City School.
